

From Autismodiario.

D. G. Zorich

Mirror's Mirror

Smeared more or less
evenly across the universe,
the matter dark that keeps the visible mind
from flying apart—

Still not only
what I do not know,
but what I cannot possibly know—
More terrifying than any vision
my eyes will ever hold:
I am what I've never seen.

D. G. Zorich's work has appeared in The Listening Eye, The Pacific Review, Indefinite Space, The Wallace Stevens Journal and Packintown Review.